The Programme and Project Partners (PPP) at Sellafield is a long-term major infrastructure programme offering exciting opportunities to those just starting their careers.

Right now, our team of 1,400 people, including 100 interns, graduates and apprentices, is delivering seven major infrastructure projects. Over the next 16 years we will deliver many more projects that will treat and store nuclear materials to enable decommissioning and remediation of the site's legacy facilities.

Your work will make a difference on a scale that will impact the whole of the UK, helping to deliver £7.5 billion of critical national infrastructure to support Sellafield to create a clean and safe environment for future generations.

If you want to make a difference and see that your work matters, joining a supportive team that will help bring out your best, then join #TeamPPP.
